

MRS. DODGE LAYS ACCUSATION ON MAN DESCRIBED

TUFTS' MEN JUBILANT

Over Dartmouth Victory and a Burning House Last Night.

Boston, May 10.—While hundreds of Tufts college students last night victoriously celebrated yesterday afternoon's victory of their varsity baseball team over Dartmouth at Hadover by 10 to 4, several thousand people were attracted to the burning of the large 2½-story wooden frame building on a little island in the center of the water-filled clay pits of the abandoned South Medford brick yards.

The building, which was destroyed, was used as a boarding house for the brickyard employees and was about as ancient as the brickyard itself. The land is now owned by the Tobey Land company of Boston.

Owing to the isolated position of the building, the firemen were unable to check the fire.

While the fire lasted, the college men on the hill rent the night air with songs and cheers, burning red fire all the time.

RESISTED WITH HAT PINS.

Girl Jabbed Nashua, N. H., Policeman Several Times.

Nashua, N. H., May 10.—Rosette Curran of Somerville, Mass., an attractively dressed and good looking girl of 15, put up a desperate fight when Patrolman Napoleon Richard caught her after a chase on Armory street yesterday.

The officer noticed Miss Curran and another girl, said to be Marion Phillips, also of Somerville, in Nashua union station, where they inquired the price of tickets to New York. Patrolman Richard thought they were runaway girls and followed them out of the station.

"You must come to the police station and tell your story to the city marshal," the officer told them. No sooner had the words left his lips than the girl ran in opposite directions.

Patrolman Richard caught Miss Curran and as she did so she drew a pin 10 inches long from her hat and jabbed it into his head. He took it from her, but she found another in the hat. Again the policeman disarmed the girl when she felt in her belt and found a three-inch pin, still intent on making a pin cushion out of the officer.

Inspector Edward Field, after talking with the girl and finding her name, communicated with the Somerville police. Said the girl to the inspector, "Send me up for as long as you will, but don't send me home."

FIRE ADDED TO BULLETS

Attempt Made Last Night to Burn Juarez

WHOLE SQUARES RAZED

With the Ruins Still Smouldering, the Rebels Started a Fierce Attack on the Town This Morning—Juarez Surrounded.

El Paso, Texas, May 10.—General Navarro, the federal commander, continued his desperate resistance in Juarez this morning to the onslaughts of the rebels under Francisco I. Madero, jr. After fierce fighting that lasted over two hours, it is reported that Navarro has deserted the city.

The engagement began in earnest this morning after Juarez had been flame-swept during the night. The federal made desperate stands from behind their barracks. The rebels pushed the fighting. The federal found refuge in the church and the customs house, but the latest reports declare that they were driven from both these buildings by the enemy, the rebels throwing dynamite bombs and both sides using machine guns. It has been largely street fighting, each side taking advantage of such protection as buildings and streets had to offer.

Bullets are still coming across the river into El Paso, but so far as known this morning no more Americans have been killed or wounded.

The rebels seem to be in complete control of Juarez at 11 o'clock. George Monroe, a negro prisoner, has reached the international bridge, declaring that the Juarez jail has been dynamited. This permitted him to escape. Following the dynamiting, 75 rebels entered the jail and released all the prisoners.

It is reported here that the federal forces were drawn into a trap yesterday near Saltillo and lost 56 men killed in the subsequent fighting with the rebels.

FALL RIVER MAN DEAD IN MEXICO BATTLE

Theodore Cregan Was Fighting With the Rebels in Lower California.

Tijuana Captured by the Rebels.

Tijuana, Lower California, May 10.—Nineteen federal and six rebels were killed and eighteen federal and twelve rebels wounded were casualties in the capture of this town yesterday by a force of rebels under General Pez. These are the casualties as far as had been ascertained this morning, but it is believed that more bodies will be found. Included in the list of rebel dead is Theodore Cregan, said to be of Fall River, Mass.

Five of the dead are well-known citizens of Tijuana. Among them is sub-Prefecto Laroque, who was in command of the rebels. On the federal side, only two of the killed were regulars. The others were rurales, non-combatants or officials, who volunteered.

Out of about 100 federal who were in Tijuana Monday, 12 made their way to the American side and surrendered to U. S. troops.

The wounded are brought as fast as they are found and cared for by an American Red Cross party. A bullet-riddled building in Tijuana has been turned into a hospital. The wounded in the hospital number 16. Two will die. At the camp of the American troops half a mile distant, there are ten other wounded men, all rebels.

The leader of the rebels, is Gen. Sam Price, who succeeded to command when Captain Woods was killed Monday night. The attack was planned and executed by Price. His force surrounded the town of advantage held by the federalists were taken until a remnant of the federalists broke through to the south toward Ensenada. This contingent had been driven from the bull ring which the rebels set on fire.

DISTURBING NEWS.

Reaches Washington Concerning Situation in Mexico.

Washington, May 10.—There were enough developments in the Mexican tangle in Washington yesterday to complicate still more a situation that even conservative advisers of President Taft are unwilling to admit is almost alarming. From American consuls scattered throughout Mexico and from other sources of information the president and the state department heard yesterday that the revolution is spreading and from Colonel Steever, in command of the United States troops at El Paso, they received bulletins telling of the fight that was endangering American lives on this side of the boundary.

The cabinet at its regular session discussed Mexico, but decided to keep on standing pat. On the objection of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, it was decided not to permit American owned cattle now in Mexico to be brought across the Rio Grande.

One bit of information given out at the White House last night showed that European governments are apparently willing to give Mexico an opportunity to solve her problem. The president told callers that so far no foreign governments have suggested that the United States take action to protect American and other foreign property or that if this nation intended to live by the Monroe doctrine it must maintain order.

Despite all the unfavorable intelligence that came to the ears of President Taft, he was still inclined to hope for peace. From Mexico City the president learned that with the exception of two or possibly three states, all Mexico is more or less involved in the revolution. But at the same time,

Foreign Minister de la Barra was quoted as confident that peace would be made between the Diaz government and Madero and that afterwards separate negotiations will be carried on with the other states in which other revolutionary leaders are in command.

PROCEEDINGS QUASHED.

Supreme Court Refuses to Entertain Petition for Mandamus.

The Vermont supreme court, in a decision handed down late yesterday, quashed the proceedings brought by H. A. Rugg and 275 other legal voters of Barre, who petitioned for mandamus to compel the assistant judges to appoint license commissioners for this city on "Yes" instead of the "No" majority of one vote, as counted. Not only that, but the decision allows Assistant Judges Clapp and Dale to recover their costs. The case was argued before the supreme court judges last week, and the matter was given into the hands of Judge Watson for preparation of an opinion. The opinion states that the assistant judges are not required by law to count the ballots cast on the license question and that there is no statute providing for the keeping of the ballots cast on the license question after the vote is declared. Since, therefore, the law has not made it the duty of the assistant judges to count the ballots, mandamus does not lie.

The Opinion.

The following is the opinion handed down: "The complaint alleges that at the last annual meeting in the city of Barre the ballots cast on the question of granting licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquor were counted and disclosed 77 in favor of license and 271 against it, that certain ballots were thrown out as defective and not counted either way, whereas, in fact, they were intended as 'yes' votes and should have been counted as such; that a proper canvass and count of the ballots show that the city voted for license by a majority of one; that the respondents, the assistant judges of the county, being petitioned by the voters, legal voters of the city, to appoint license commissioners for the city, declined so to do; and the prayer is that a mandate issue commanding them to make such appointments."

"The duties of the assistant judges in matters pertaining to the legal sale of intoxicating liquor are prescribed by P. S. 5,109, 5,111 and 5,114. Section 5,109 provides that if a town votes for license the assistant judges of the county shall, within a time stated, appoint a board of license commissioners of such town. Section 5,111 relates exclusively to vacancies in the board and the filling of the same, and section 5,114, so far as the assistant judges are concerned, touches solely on the compensation of the board."

"In these matters, the assistant judges have jurisdiction throughout the county, and their duties are such only as are expressly or impliedly given by the statutes. No duty respecting the counting of ballots upon the question of granting licenses in the different towns is expressly placed upon them. That there is none impliedly, is clear from the fact that it is impossible for them to be present at the various town meetings at the same time for such purpose, and there is no provision by statute for the preservation of ballots in their integrity to be counted at a later time. Indeed, the statute does not require such ballots to be kept at all for any purpose after the result is declared at its annual meeting. No claim is made that the charter of the city contains provisions of a different effect touching the question here involved."

"As refusing to appoint license commissioners, the respondents acted according to the vote of the city as declared at the meeting when taken and since the law has not made it their duty to canvass and count such ballots at any time, nor in any circumstances, mandamus will not lie to compel such action by them. Page vs. McClure 79 Vt. 23, 64 Att. 451."

"Motion to quash sustained and the complaint is quashed with costs to the respondents."

"PARKY" FLYNN WON.

Jim Savage Received Bad Beating—Bout Stopped in Ninth.

Boston, May 10.—"Parky" Flynn of Boston sent Jim Savage of New Jersey to the mat so frequently during six rounds of a scheduled twelve-round bout at the Armory Athletic association last night that the referee called the match in the ninth round and gave the decision to Flynn.

Savage, although slow, showed to fair advantage in the first three rounds.

After Flynn sent him down with a right to the midriff in the fourth and followed with a left to the jaw, which staggered the New Jersey man, it was Flynn all the way through. Savage was so weak that several times he nearly fell through the ropes out of the ring.

THEATRE FIRE KILLS EIGHT

An Edinburgh Music Hall Destroyed Last Night

THREE ACTORS ARE DEAD

"Lafayette, the Great," a Well Known Variety Star, Lost His Life Trying to Save a Pet Horse and Pet Dog.

Edinburgh, Scotland, May 10.—Eight bodies were recovered this morning from the ruins of the Empire music hall which was burned last night. The bodies, so far as identified, are those of "Lafayette, the Great" and two members of his company, Alice Dale and Jose Coster. Two other bodies are those of members of the orchestra, and the three others have not been identified.

Lafayette has been in Great Britain during the past years, presenting in music halls a spectacular "turn" which introduced a horse and a dog. An attempt to rescue his pets cost the performer his life. The fire started in a mass of scenery which was used in the conclusion of Lafayette's performance, which was a spectacular military pageant.

Lafayette had played for twenty years in the United States.

"SHORTY" PALMER DOES THE GET-AWAY

Inmate of County Jail Didn't Show Up With the Supper Hall Last Monday Evening.

"Shorty" Palmer is missing. That is, he is missing to Sheriff Frank Tracy. "Shorty" was serving a 60 days sentence in the county jail and had only 15 days to serve when the lure of the wild-free life appealed to him. That was Monday, while he was working out at the Consolidated Lighting company's plant at the Pioneer, being honored as a "trustee." He didn't come up with the supper hall Monday night, and his present whereabouts are not known to the sheriff's department.

However, Sheriff Tracy announces that he will find "Shorty" if money and time can do it. Therefore, as a starter, he is sending out circulars to all police headquarters and sheriffs in the state and many outside so that they may be on the lookout. If he is caught it will mean two years, same as two other men who violated Sheriff Tracy's confidence and were caught.

When "Shorty" disappeared he went to a Montpelier shoe store and got a pair of shoes. His real name is Frank Palmer, and he is short and stout, has shifty eyes, a red face and a gold front tooth. He was committed to the jail from the Barre city court for larceny of clothing. Just before that he had finished a term in Franklin county jail.

STATUES DEDICATED

In Service Held at St. Monica's Church Last Evening.

Dedicatory services were held in St. Monica's church last evening for three statues of St. Anthony, St. Peter and St. Paul. The statues were blessed by Rev. W. N. Longman of Rutland, who afterwards preached an inspiring sermon on St. Anthony. The services were attended by a large number of people and members of Barre council, Knights of Columbus, and several of the visiting delegates to the state convention of the knights were present in a body. Rev. Father Longman dedicated the large statue of Christ in the church several years ago.

The statue of St. Anthony was presented to the church by Mrs. D. M. Miles before her death and the other two statues are gifts of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sanguinetti. The statues are of white Carrara marble and very handsome. The statue of St. Anthony is six feet tall and is placed on a pedestal. The statue of St. Peter is four feet tall and is placed on a pedestal. The statue of St. Paul is four feet tall and is placed on a pedestal.

FORMER OFFICERS WERE RE-ELECTED

bus. Next Meeting in Montpelier.

The twelfth annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus, held in the K. of C. hall yesterday, was brought to a close late yesterday afternoon after a most successful as well as enjoyable meeting. The visiting state officers and delegates joined in extending most hearty congratulations to the members of Barre council for the efficient manner in which they had carried out the arrangements for the convention and for the royal hospitality accorded the visitors. The state deputy stated that the convention had been one of the best that the knights ever held.

At the closing session the old board of officers were re-elected as follows: P. E. McAniff, Burlington, state deputy; Charles F. Mann, Brattleboro, secretary; Arthur C. Moore, Barre, treasurer; John F. Smith, Rutland, M. H. O'Leary, St. Albans, advocate; Rev. W. N. Longman, Rutland, chaplain. The delegates to the national convention, which meets in Detroit in August, are State Deputy McAniff and Past State Deputy Dr. J. T. Radden of Bellows Falls by virtue of their offices, and James Cosgrove of St. Johnsbury and John C. Henderson of Johnsons Falls were elected as alternates.

It was voted to hold the convention next year in Montpelier.

Pursuant to a recommendation made by the state deputy in his annual report that the Knights of Columbus inaugurate a movement for the erection of a suitable memorial at the birthplace in Stockbridge of Orestes A. Brownson, the noted publicist, philosopher and patriot, the convention instructed the state deputy to appoint a committee for this purpose.

The state deputy's report on this matter was as follows: "It would seem to us that Vermont does not appreciate the fact that Vermont hills gave birth to one of the most gifted men of the last century in the person of Orestes A. Brownson, probably the most noted convert that the country ever knew. Famous as a publicist, philosopher, patriot, and who loved God, country and truth. Born in Stockbridge, Sept. 16, 1803, and died in Detroit, Mich., April 17, 1876. It would seem appropriate at this time for the Knights of Columbus of Vermont to inaugurate a movement that would terminate in the erection of a suitable tablet to his fame and memory at his place of birth. By so doing we would be testifying to the world at large our interest in placing before their minds a character too little known, and particularly to the residents of our own state, and would recommend the appointment of a committee whose duty it would be to arrange details in connection with the fulfillment of this worthy object."

The committee found many places where macadam streets were being put out and block paving was being put in. Street commissioners were unanimous in their statements that paving was much more economical than macadam, and that macadam should be used only on streets of light traffic. The kind of paving which is meeting with the most popularity is the stone block paving with cement joints instead of pitch joints.

The local committee said that granite block paving with cement joints on North Main street they considered would be the right thing, and that as the cement joint paving is not so noisy and rough as the pitch joint, most objection to paving from that point of view would be done away with. After the reading of the report, Alderman Brown explained some things further and said that he could hardly believe what he saw when he was shown some macadam streets that had gone to pieces in a year's time from heavy traffic.

On motion of Alderman Willey, the committee's report was accepted and ordered placed on the file.

WHOLESALE CONFERENCE WITH BARRE MFR.'S ASSN.

Important Matters Taken Up at Session Last Evening, Three of the Former's Firms Being Represented.

A conference between the directors of the Barre Granite Manufacturers association and representatives of the wholesalers' association was held in the headquarters of the former last night, at which several matters of importance to both were discussed, the session continuing for about three hours. It is said that the recent action of the Barre association in refusing to deal with the so-called "professional buyers" was only one of the minor details of the discussion, and that something might develop from the other matters discussed.

The wholesale monument dealers were represented by Charles Clements of Boston, John Cook of Cook & Watkins, Boston; and C. E. Fenn of C. E. Fenn Co. of Chicago.

ALBERT W. THWING.

A Life-Long Resident of Barre Died Last Evening.

The death of Albert W. Thwing occurred at his home, 6 Schuyler street, at 9:15 o'clock last evening after an illness of only three days. Sunday he was stricken with pneumonia and failed rapidly during the next three days. Heart trouble hastened his death. He is survived by three children as follows: Mrs. Thomas J. Mercer and Miss Mary Thwing of this city, and Dean Thwing of Burlington, a postal clerk employed on the Central Vermont railroad from White River Junction to Burlington. He also leaves two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Adelle Scott of Barre, Mrs. Francis Clark of Lowell, Mass., Heber J. Thwing of this city, and Clinton E. Thwing of Marshfield.

Albert William Thwing was born in Barre, March 18, 1850. He was one of six children born to James and Eliza (Peck) Thwing. He received his education in the common schools of Barre and had been a life-long resident of the city.

The deceased was a great grandson of James Thwing, who was one of the first settlers of Barre, coming here from Wilbraham, Mass., when the site of the present city was sparsely populated. Mr. Thwing was married in Barre in 1873 to Miss Abbie Currier, whose death occurred February 3, 1910. He was an active member of Granite lodge, No. 35, F. & A. M., for many years. In religion he was affiliated with the Universalist church. He was a boxer by trade and for nine years was in the employ of Jones Bros. One year ago, ill health made a change necessary and since that time until his last illness, he had been employed by Smith, Whitcomb & Cook. He was known as a faithful and efficient workman and commanded the respect and esteem of everyone with whom he came in contact.

The funeral will be held at the house Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. E. C. Downey, pastor of the Universalist church, will officiate. Burial will take place in the family lot in Elmwood cemetery. It is requested that no flowers be contributed.

A PAVEMENT OF GRANITE

For North Main Street, With a New Kind of Filling

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED

Barre's Special Investigators Make Report of Their Findings—Resolution to Pave from Depot Square to Granite St. Introduced.

The question of whether it would be possible to keep within reasonable bounds of the estimated cost of conducting the affairs of the city this year on a $2.25 tax rate was brought forcibly to the minds of the city fathers last evening, and it caused Alderman Thurston to state that the extra expenditures of money that had been ordered already by the citizens at the city meeting and by the council could not be met short of a $2.40 tax rate without finding the city in the hole at the end of the year. His statement was also corroborated by the city clerk.

The presenting of a resolution, instructing the street committee to pave North Main street from the end of the present pavement at Depot square to the northerly side of Granite street was what started the discussion relative to the financial situation. All this came up in a special meeting of the city council called at the conclusion of the aldermen's regular meeting for the purpose of listening to the report of the special committee which was sent to Massachusetts last week to get ideas on permanent street building.

The committee was most emphatic in recommending that granite pavement should be put in on North Main street in preference to any other kind of street. The committee's report was an interesting account of their trip and a detailed account of all the kinds of street they inspected. The committee did not hesitate to say that paving was the only kind of streets being made now for heavy traffic. In every city they visited, the street commissioners did not attempt to recommend anything but paving blocks for streets where the traffic was heavy.

At Boston the commissioner was asked for his opinion as to the kind of street that should be laid on North Main street in this city after the traffic conditions had been explained to him by City Engineer Reed and the commissioner said that if the conditions were as stated to him, that paving was the only kind of street to be put in.

The committee found many places where macadam streets were being put out and block paving was being put in. Street commissioners were unanimous in their statements that paving was much more economical than macadam, and that macadam should be used only on streets of light traffic. The kind of paving which is meeting with the most popularity is the stone block paving with cement joints instead of pitch joints.

The local committee said that granite block paving with cement joints on North Main street they considered would be the right thing, and that as the cement joint paving is not so noisy and rough as the pitch joint, most objection to paving from that point of view would be done away with. After the reading of the report, Alderman Brown explained some things further and said that he could hardly believe what he saw when he was shown some macadam streets that had gone to pieces in a year's time from heavy traffic.

On motion of Alderman Willey, the committee's report was accepted and ordered placed on the file.

A Paving Resolution.

The resolution relative to paving North Main street from Depot square to Granite street was next read and Alderman Thurston said, in addition to what has already been quoted of his remarks, that it would be necessary to put the resolution to a second reading as a special appropriation would have to be made before the work could be done for the reason that there was now only $2,500 left in the permanent street appropriations that could be used and that over $9,000 would be needed to pave that section of the street. The engineer also stated that as near as he could estimate it, the cost would be $9,000.

Alderman Thurston also said that he had never had any objection to paving being put in on this section of North Main street, but he had objected to it below Granite street, and he thought that something ought to be done right away with that portion of the street below Granite as it was the worst street in the city now and has been so for the last four years. He thought that the street below Granite at Depot square was in better condition than that north of Granite and could better wait.

He thought that the residents on the street north of Granite would not be satisfied to wait any longer.

On motion of Alderman Thurston the resolution was passed to a second reading.

Another resolution was read relative to placing the employees of the street and water departments on an 8-hour work day basis thereby carrying out the vote of the city meeting. After the reading of the resolution, Alderman McLeod said that he had been told that the workmen did not want an 8-hour day, but did want the Saturday half holiday and he thought as they were the ones to be benefited and the half holiday was the most advantageous for the city, it would be the right thing to do. The mayor said that he did not believe that the men would refuse to take the 8-hour day, but he knew well enough that the Saturday half-holiday was the best proposition for the city and suggested that the water and street committees interview the workmen and find out what would suit them best.

At the opening of the discussion, Alderman Rossi moved that the resolution be adopted, saying that if the citizens wanted an 8-hour day for these
